Do you know that J. W. Race, of the firm of R RACE & CO., has just returned from New York, where he bought goods cheaper than ever?

Yes, I've hearn so-and that they are now recoiving an immense stock for the Spring trade; but they always did have the largest and best stock in the city, and sold them mighty cheap.

Did you hear about their Watch Donation?

They are Stem Winders, and guaranteed to keep good time, and are given away with every $20 and over worth of goods purchased of them for eash, at one time.

Buy a $20 Suit and got the correct time.

Whin are you going around to see their stock?

Why just as soon as I can get time. Every day is opening day with them. They are always ready to wait on customers and give them bar-

The Nile Valley-Its Danger.

The Mile Valley—Its Danger.

The danger that hovers over the Nile Valley is one of interest to all. If, as it is proposed, the Soudan, with all its fertility and its deserts, is given up to the fanatical followers of the Mahdi, it is scarcely possible that Mohammedan fanaticism can be restrained along the Nile Theoritle population has never been trustworthy. There are spots where the traveler has been always in danger, and an escort has proved often useful even under the walls of Karnal. It is easy to see that the attractions of the Nile may be seriously lessened by the dierce eventement that rules in Cairo and Alexandria, as well as in the desert tribes. Arabi is said to have never ceased his correspondence with his old allies in Egypt. All Islam is stirred by the news of the successes of the wild people of Soudan. The withdrawal of the Egyptian troops from the Upper.

people of Soudan The withdrawal of the Egyptian troops from the Upper Nile will give new hopes and courage to the robbers of the desert, and few travelers will care to venture to Nubia, or as far as Philic, while the wastes around them are ruled by the Arab Sheiks A closed Nile would be a real privation to many The sick, the studious and the casual traveler have found the lather of Rivers always a charmed telather of Rivers always a charmed 16-sort in writer Nowhere, it is said is there so even a chimite, nowhere such a panorama of wonders, and the stream of travel that has set within a few yeur or mayor that has set which a few years toward the Cataracts and even Nubia, must have brought a golden shower to impoverished Egypt. It would, indeed, be a lasting eclipse to much hirmless pleasure should this resource be cut off by which and the slow dahabacevah while up the window river filled with its glide up the winding river filled with its gay Americans or English, or the swift steamer ply from the pyramids to Ld foo It would be a lonely river almost as much shut out from foreign scrut ny as when Herodotas made his way to its archives or the Fatimite Caliphs ex-pelled the Chiis' an dogs from their shores

No one would wish to consign Tgypt to such a tate, or to close to the world the most wonderful of rivers. Americans, English Germans It ilians, French are all intimately concerned in the Egyptian question. The American flag next to the English, is said to float oftenest over the Mile boats that ride by Memphis and Thebes. The Prench have a poculiar interest in Egypt. The first Nameleon in his sellish ambition, led the way to the reareal hd the way to the revival of the land o the Photos and the study of its monuments. Lieuchinen of science discov polion interpreted it. A lunch Empero, opened the Suez Canal, and the gatted Lesseps has benefitted manland England Germany Italy, and the Med iteriane in States are all bound to Egypt by the ties of interest and trade, and if open to the people of Europe, with all its boundless resources in agriculture and minerals, it must be by the portals of the Nile Like a vist Line Canal cut by nature, three thousand miles long the great liver penetia es to the hear of the continent and the very centre of its treasures To the student a closed Nile would mean danger to much that he has been accustomed to value In the recentwar of Arabi the Boulak Museum of Egyptian antiquities was in serious peril The activity of Egyptian scholars depends upon peace. The wonders of Egypt have as yet been only imperfectly exploied, and a thousand secrets he hidden in its tombs and mounds that a few years of study would easily un-fold But to all this a Mohammedan using and a war of religion and races would soon put an end l'anaticism spares nothing There are treasures in Egypt that, once destroyed, could never be regained Under a Mohammidan rule they would never be safe Fdfoo, that his spring in its beauty from the sands, Denderah, its rival even the hall of Karnak and the tomb of Rameses might perish like Memphis and Helio polis. All the world has an interest in preserving these rate remains. They are the carliest record of the human race the curious aspiration of its youll Every one would reporce to see Egypt free its miscrable people rescued from their oppressors, and the Nile Valuey made happy by all the rewards of in dustry. But it would searcely be safe to give up the sacred land to the savage shelks of the desert and the tanatical followers of the Prophet It would be a step backward The solution of the Lzyptian question probably lies in the union of the European powers in a just a d humane protectorate. It should be made the Switzerland or the Belgium of the List, its people restrained by European laws, but saved by them from European money-lenders and native article Legipt is the possession of man-kind It is the land of the Pyramids, the scene of the beautiful Hebrew tales of Joseph and the infant Moses the cap tivity and the flight, of the first growth of the aits of some of their most splended exemplifications To give up to the rule of the savages again vould wound the instinctive sense of progress and close perhaps forever a volume of history that is jet only partly open— Eugene Jawrence, in Harper's Weekly

The Four Desperadoes Who Raided the Medicine Valley Bank, Mobbed.

One. Who Resisted, Riddled With Bullets in Jail—The Others Taken Out of Town and Hanged.

The Outlaws Identified as the Marshal and Deputy Marshal of Caldwell, Kas., yet definitely known Senttor Live yes-terday made an unpissioned defense of and Two Cow-Boys.

HARPER, Kas , May 2 -The men who endeavored to lob the Medicine Lodge Bank and shot and killed the cashier, and mortally wounded the President, rode fast after their deed was done, but the posse following them rode faster and harder, and overtook the fugitive murderers about three miles from Harper late Wednesday evening When the posse came upon there they made a show of resistance, but were captured without much difficulty and taken to the Harper pail annid great rejoicing and much excite-

WILCOMED The entire county was out when the captives airived, and no sooner had the nail doors closed upon them than the mutterings of approaching trouble began to become loud and an omin ous activity took possession of the populace all of a sudden There were the usual stimulating spirits to increase the excitement, and the city authorities were on guard near the jail all evening Livery one seemed determined to remain up longer on Wednesday evening than usual, and the usual rumors of the purchase of several varids of stout hemp rope served to keep the ball of excitement

At ten o'clock the populace seemed to Bondaissand to Pacife Rubicals come from all directions towards the jail, and the thoroughfares surrounding that institution were crowded with people who talked of vindicating out; ged justice The mob organized quickly and an attack was made on the Jul | The officers made tresistance strong enough to increase the determination of the mob, but not strong enough to make any gaps in the lanks of the attacking citizens as they swarmed around the building. An cutrance was easily seemed, and the murdeters and tobbers were it ched องา ธน้อน 10 มหาน

One of them having a revolver still in his possession opened fire upon the cloud, but before the report of hapistol had been sileneed a dozen or more shoot ing from were leveled at him, and he fell to the floor and expired with he boots on, and his body full of bullet holes. The other three murderers of the gang were cornered before they could make any re nstance Pistols were placed to their heads and then hands were bound behind them. Then it become known who the shell and Ben Wheeler, Deputy Marshal of Caldwell, has, and John Westiv and Billy Smith, typical cowboys from the Indian Territory. All the men were well known and their reputation was as bad as men's could be who had established several graveyards, and supported coro-ners and undertakers, all in their respective districts

QUICK MARCH TO DEATH The three bound men were led out the juil surrounded by the motion i state of wild excitement. The warel was un exciting, is the prisoners of the people were kept in a state of submission by pistols pointed at their heads. One or them weakened and showed the white fe ther 30 conspicuously that he had to be should along the wigon road hading out of town. His pleas for mercy and requests that the mob would think of ear tain of his relatives were drowned by remarks to the effect that he would get what he had given and he d better leep stepping or he would not be in it the end

A short time was spent in the murch when a clump of trees loomed up on the edge of the town limits and a couple of conners went on before Arrived at the trees the proper ones were selected with the care characterizing these affairs in kansas

No time was lost, in I in a few innuites the men were strong up, and then con vulsions had not yet ceased when the mob began the return maich to town, leaving the three bodies dangling from the trees as a warning to all evil does who might stilke the town from that direction. Two of the men died game. The mob did not disperse when the people came back to town, but gathered aroun 1 the open stores and stood in groups curring on excited conversations, the purport of a hich was trut the community had no vet been purged, and that more bad blood was

All day vesterday the excitement was at force heat. The dead bodies have been cut down, but the inquest has not yet begun. This formality is postponed, is there will be little trouble in arriving at the verdict President Payne 19 ported as dying The bullet entered his breast directly over the beart and made its exit below the shoulder blade

HARBY M. MOORE, CHARLES HARTLEY, Committee.

There was a terrific and almost fatal explosion at the Adam Blenz slaughter house near the fair grounds this morning. The men were engaged in running hot tallow into an old gasoline barrel. They had the barrel standing on end and were pouring the tallow into it through a funnel. A vent hole was made in the side. They noticed that after the barrel had been about two-thirds filled that queer stuil was flowing out of the veht hole, and a light was brought to investigate the matter. The light was held by Henry Blenz, aged 18, who was told repeatedly not to go too near the barrel with the light; but he went shead holding the light near the funnel, whon suddenly there was a terrific explosion, causing a Young Blenz was knocked senseless, and when picked up it was found that a long gash had been cut over his eyes, that his neck was burnt and his hair singed considerably. Dr. Ira N. Barnes was called to attend the wounded man, and he sewed up the ugly gash. Blenz feels sore all over, but congratulates himself on his narrow escape from instant death. 🐴 The barrel contained a quantity of gas-

ALUMNI MAY FESTIVAL.

The Efforts of the Workers Crowned with Success-A Big Crowd.

The much-talked-of May Festival arranged by active members of the High School Alumni was given at the tabernacle last evening, and notwithstanding the mud and howling wind, the great room was filled for several hours with 1200 to 1500 people who came to witness the tableaux and patronize the various refreshment tables, and have a good time. None went away disappointed. The affair was suggested, we believe, by Miss Hattie Brown, who with Miss Lena Henkle and agent or more of other alumnus pooled score or more of other alumnus poole their efforts and made the ente financial success. The nearly $275—$105 having The receipts wer at the door at 10 cents admission-whice will leave in the Alumni treasury about $175. He gives another sample of his monumental cheek, by directing the Bachmans to go to his office in Central Block, take out the stove and furniture and sell them, but he says nothing about paying the widow, Mrs. Dawkins rent money due her; neither loes he mention his financial obligations to I.O. Eyman, the Boody farmer and the Gorin bank. Inasmuch as the office furniture was attached Monday, and is now in charge of a constable, it is not likely that the Bachmans will get their grip on the outfit. Modern-Science ™ Skeplicism ==

Nothing but to suggest doubts. It has ever suggested that Rheumatism cannot be cured Skephicism is as bad as Rheumatism. What has Science done for the world? A good many things; for instance, it has shown that Rhoumatism can be cured. It has shown that Neuralgia can be got rid of. It has shown that Neuralgia can be got rid of.
Modern science has proved that Rheumatism is a blood isonso, and has provided Athlophous as the remedy which can completely cure it.
It has proved that although the old doctors falled to overcome Neuralgia, Athlophousos can reach it, and eradicate it from the system.
It has proved that though these tormenting diseases were so slow and obstinate, they can be overcome in a little while by means of Durbanu is historic. It was neutral ground intring the artimistice between Biormans and Johnson. Boldiors of both armies filled diel ponches with the tobacco steredthere, and, after the surronder, marched home ward. Hoon orders came from East, Worthand South, for "more of that elegant tobacco." Then, ten men ran an unknown factory. Now it employs 800 men, uses the pink and pick of the Golden Belt, and the Burtham Buil is the trade-mark of this, the best tobacco in the world. Blackwell's Buil Jurham Buncking Tobacco has the largest alploy of any smoking tobacco in the world.

A young man in this city had been several years attempting to build up a law practice; he had a slight acquaintame in the city, he was not naturally of a very social nature, and he had very little faculty of bringing himself to the notice of influential men. The work that had come to him had been done to the had been done faithfully, but the stream was a shallow one, and seemed as likely to dry up as to deepon. The young lawyer became discouraged, and began to question if he had not made a mistake in choosing a profession, and even to tear that his life would be a failure. Just at this time a friend, also a lawyer, who was going into the country for the summer, invited him to occupy the house which his family were about to leave. Glad to have more commodious quarters at a reduced expense, he accepted the invitation, and found among his friend's possessions a large and valuable law hbrary. It so happened that he had in his hands at this time a case on appeal to one of the higher courts; he had nothing else to do, and the library was ctose at hand, and he spent the summer in a study of the case so thorough ape oninstaking that he mastered the whole history of jurisprudence bearing upon He expected very little profit from at, but he had the satisfaction of doing a piece of work artistically and ideally

Autumn came at last, and with it the argument of the case in question. It is a common saying among lawyers that enger are oftener won in the office than in the court-room. The young lawyer showed hunself a thorough master of his case, and presented it with such clearness, simplicity and vigor that he held the attention of the Judges to the ymy close. One of these Judges had have the the fact to leave the heads and already decided to leave the bench and return to general practice; the argument of the young man arrested his attention, and resulted in a letter suggesting an interview. That summer's work bere fruit in a partnership in a leading law firm, and a practice that is to-day among the most literative and influenti-

This bit of history from actual life is repeated here as an illustration of a fact, which men are apt to forget in their moments of discouragement, that every life has its opportunity. At some time or other along the road, very likely at its hardest and dreariest point, meess stands with outstretched hand. Sho is rarely discerned at the moment, but the man who uses every opportunity as it it were the great opportunity of his lite is sure not to miss the crown when it is offered boonuse its jewels are envered. Life is full of vicissitudes, changes and discouragements, it is also full of rewards, prizes and opportunitles. Those come often at the end of long course of discipline and patience but to every true worker in one way or another they do come at last It is a battle in which there is no final deleat to those who strive lawfully, a race in which no wreaths are lost to those who

ST. Louis Golbe-Democrat : At a recent convention of the Highway Commissioners of Illinois a resolution was passed declaring that convict labor, instead of being employed to compete with honest artisans in various branches of manufacturing, should be utilized in the construction and improvement of wagon roads, under the supervision of county officers. Whatever may be said of the idea of making such use cial permit. As soon as the Chan of prison labor, it is certainly true that the roads of the United States are the worst in the world, and that their systematic improvement by some means would be a general blessing. Thomas H. Benton never said a wiser thing than when he declared that prosperity and happiness depended very much upon giving the people good paths to school and good roads to market.

The Alligator Tever. It beats all how a Northern man does marker to shoot an alligator just as soon as he gets beyond the Ohio River, and the further South he goes the stronger grows the feeling. It's a sort of "buck levor," and nothing will cure it except the gore of the reptile. A chap from Rhode Island went down to Biloxi from New Orleans with the party. Small alligators were plenty enough along the crocks and ditches, and every time the Clam State man saw one he almost kicked his boots off. He tackled evorybody around Biloxi for an alligator hunt, and he finally paid a darkey three dollars to drive him to a lake four or five miles away, where the saurians were said to be numerous enough to crowd each other out of water. The boys had been over in the morning and fixed things A rope was tied to either end of a water-soaked log and led into the bushes, and no sooner had the hunter discovered a movement in the water than he opened fire.

"Dat's yer game, boss," said the darkey, as he seated himself in the shade, and the way that old log was bombarded was a caution. The made eye shots, and line shots, and dead shots, and after he had fired about twenty-five times he began to wonder why his game didn't turn toes up.

"Takes a heap o' lead, boss, but you is trubblin' him mighty bad," encouraged the darkey, and the bombardment was renewed with a determination to die in the last ditch. Pretty soon a man broke from the bushes to the left, and in a voice of authority called out: "Shooting alligators out of season is an offense punished by a fine of notless than ten dollars."

"That's trespass, and the fine is not less than twenty-five dollars. You must come with me!"
"But, sir—I—!"
